Re: Letter dated Jan 30th, 2013 - Tallaght Area Committee Meeting - 28th January, 2013
Substations, utility boxes on Brookfield Road in poor condition due to graffiti and vandalism.

Eircom have no plant above ground.
The eircom survey identified an ESB substation and possibly a UPC cabinet.

Regards,
Ger.

Colm

Tony Gibney FLM surveyed this site this morning.
He can find no eircom infrastructure along the road (cabinets) He did see an ESB substation and what looked like a UPC cabinet with some graffiti.
Based on the site survey this is not an eircom issue

Colm,
Can you get your local man to have a look at these.
If it is graffiti it is probably the cabinets that are being referred to.
Tallaght is done from an NGA build point so it may be both type of cabinets.

If there is a requirement for refurbishment can you get a WCC request submitted and we will see it through with KNN.

If we have some action in the pipeline one or other of us can do a reply to the council

Thanks
Pat

Hi Pat,

The attached complaint was inadvertently sent to me as "substations and utility boxes" were read incorrectly as Payphones.

I spoke with Paul Doyle who mentioned you'd be the person to handle this.

Thanks.

Regards,
Ger.

RE: Tallaght Area Committee Meeting - 28th January, 2013

Dear Sir / Madam,

At South Dublin County Council's Tallaght Area Committee Meeting, held on 28th January, 2013, the following Motion was passed:

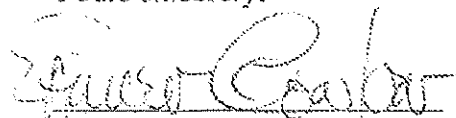

"That the Manager reviews the condition of the public realm on the Brookfield Road and arranges without delay to carry out any upgrading necessary to bring it to a standard that would be acceptable in any other part of the county."

During discussions that followed on the Motion it was noted that the substations/utility boxes on Brookfield Road, Tallaght are in very poor condition in relation to graffiti and vandalism.

I should be obliged if you would let me have a reply on the matter at your earliest convenience with regard to utility boxes owned by Eircom on this road.

Thanking you in anticipation,

Yours sincerely,

Eamon Conlon,
STAFF OFFICER,
HOUSING ADMINISTRATION.
