Foreword from the Mayor

I am honoured as Mayor and First Citizen to give the foreword to this Annual Report for South Dublin County Council in what has been one of the more challenging years I hope any of us will have to face. At the heart of South Dublin County is a strong community spirit and we have seen that in abundance this year.

I want to start by paying tribute to all those within our County who have worked on the frontline in the fight against COVID-19. The work they have done has been a shining light for all of us during this time and it is something that I believe we will remember for years to come.

One of the highlights of my time in office has been in seeing the community-led response to dealing with the pandemic and by supporting each other in our daily lives. In particular, I would like to highlight the volunteers I met at Tallaght Stadium in September who worked tirelessly on testing and of those people who answered the community call and worked with the Council on delivering vital medication, food and friendship to those cocooning during particularly difficult times of the past year.

COVID-19 has shaped much of what we have been able to do as individuals and as a community. It has also changed the way South Dublin County Council works and the projects we have been able to carry out. But I am proud of the work we have accomplished as a Council. While we were adapting to this new reality, we were still doing the work needed today while planning for tomorrow. This report gives a snapshot of the main projects and events of the year but I also want to pay tribute to the staff who adapted to those changed realities of work and kept the day-to-day operations of the Council running smoothly.

Beyond COVID, I believe we have put in place several projects that will reshape and redefine South Dublin County in the years ahead. Whether that is in increasing sustainable transport infrastructure through plans like Cycle South Dublin, upgrading Tallaght Stadium or attracting Ireland's first media park to Grange Castle Business Park.

While affordable housing remains an issue, the Council's plans for developments in Rathcoole,

Cllr Ed O'Brien

Mayor of South Dublin County

Killinarden and particularly in Clonburr where the Council is developing a new town, should help ease some of that pressure. The investment the Council is making in opening new libraries in North Clondalkin and Castletymon and the ongoing works in Lucan for its new swimming pool will make a real difference to the lives of people in the area.

That is just a flavour of what has been progressing in the Council over the last year but there has been much more. The progressive budget the Council passed towards the end of 2020 will help support business, build out Tallaght with projects like the new Innovation Quarter, attract tourists and new residents to the County and it will increase the quality of life of our citizens. In a year that has been as turbulent as the past twelve months have been, the work being done right now and the commitments given within that budget offers hope for a brighter future for everyone that lives, works, learns and does business here.

It has been a privilege to serve the people of South Dublin County as Mayor during 2020 and 2021. I have no doubt that we will bounce back stronger as a community from our current challenges and I look forward to continuing to support the people of this County through my work on the Council in the years ahead. I would like to close by thanking the Chief Executive, Daniel McLoughlin, his staff and my fellow Elected Members of the Council for their support during my time as Mayor.

Chief Executive's Introduction

I want to join with the Mayor in setting out our Annual Report for 2020, an extraordinary year by any standard. The onset of COVID-19 and the reporting of the first case on 29th February, initiated a sustained period of change in our personal and working lives, that placed this council at the centre of supportive action for our community and the local businesses that sustain our economy.

The pandemic was our predominant influence throughout 2020 and demanded our utmost attention. As a democratic institution, unit of government and the provider of essential services, the requirement was simply to maintain these services as best possible, while protecting staff and maintaining public safety. What followed in the nine months to the year end was a sustained collaborative effort across the organisation to this end. Vital public services continued with minimum disruption, communities including our most vulnerable were supported through resilience and wellbeing programmes, while the ongoing development and future provision of social infrastructure, including much needed housing was maintained. With government funding, critical financial supports were administered for business, including €58m in rates waiver support and €32m in restart grants.

Notwithstanding these challenges, it is worth reflecting on positive achievements made throughout 2020. Housing construction continued, following a short period of construction closure. A further 534 houses were added to stock, while work continued on major projects such as the commencement of Kilcarbery and the tender of Killinarden. A new Age Friendly Housing Strategy and accompanying Rightsizing Policy have been adopted. In keeping with this programme, new elderly housing schemes at Whitestown Way and Fernwood/Maplewood commenced construction, while smaller schemes at Templeogue and Old Bawn are out to tender.

In the context of community, recreation and amenity services, notable achievements included the substantial completion of new libraries at Tymon and Clondalkin, the progression of Lucan Pool, new pavilions at Corkagh and Old Bawn, securing planning for major enhancements to Kiltipper Park and the substantial advancement of new parks in Adamstown to the value of €15m. The final phase of Tallaght Stadium costing €7m, the construction of a new community centre in Saggart and substantial enhancements to Corkagh Park were brought through planning and will all commence in 2021. We completed our Play Space Programme bringing total numbers provided to 49 while our Teen Space Programme commenced with an annual funding provision of €500k. Finally, the adoption of a 5-year Playing Pitch Strategy sets out our plans for the development of over 20 additional playing pitches in that period to cater for new and ever-growing communities.

Urban regeneration and public realm enhancements were once again a major focus of our work in 2020. During this year Saggart village improvements were completed, while €45m of URDF funding was confirmed for urban regeneration works to central Tallaght. This bundle of complementary projects was brought through planning in 2020, including a new Innovation Centre, the completion of Tallaght Stadium, a new civic plaza and pedestrian links and additional roads to open up the Belgard North and Cookstown area. Council approved a new District Enhancement Scheme with €650k to be invested in two locations annually. Lucan village secured Destination Village status from Fáilte Ireland and tenders have been awarded for the design of the €2.5m enhancement scheme in the village. The Naas Road Regeneration Study commenced in June in conjunction with Dublin City Council. The study led by SDCC will examine 700 hectares of regeneration lands with a focus on repurposing this largely industrial area as a new mixed used/residential zone to be developed, over the period to 2040 and beyond.

Following the launch of our first Climate Action Plan 2019-2024 last year, work continued on our programme of initiatives. The Council exceeded its carbon emission reduction target to 2020 by reducing its baseline by 34.4%. Significant progress was made across a range of areas included the contract signing for the Tallaght District Heating project, the approval and advancement of the Whitestown, Poddle and Camac Flood Alleviation Schemes and the replacement of a further 2,000 LED public lights. The planning of constructed wetlands, a substantial Tree Planting and Pollinator Programme and EV charging are among the other initiatives being perused. The adoption of Cycle South Dublin, with potential associated investment of over €200m in cycling infrastructure, is a critical component of our active travel and climate strategy going forward.

Work commenced on the access road to the new western 500-acre extension to Grange Castle Business Park while the amenity park and castle restoration project were completed in the main park. We continue to work with IDA Ireland on the promotion of the park to international and indigenous companies.

We ended the year having completed the initial round of consultation on the review of our County Development Plan. While 2020 was a remarkable and difficult year, it was not without its positives with real progress been made on corporate objectives. The resilience and perseverance of our community and business sector was remarkable and deserves our continued support.

We look forward to 2021 with a sense of hope and expectation that significant progress will be made in worldwide vaccination programmes that will bring this horrible pandemic under control. In the interim we will continue to work within the constraints on the betterment of the county for everyone.

COVID-19 Response

Community Response

South Dublin County Council was mandated by the government to co-ordinate the community response to the COVID-19 emergency in the County. Accordingly, a South Dublin Community Response Forum was established in March to lead the co-ordination of COVID-19 community supports and resilience. This included a diverse range of groups, such as the Council, An Post, Dublin GAA, HSE, An Garda Síochána, ALONE, Tusla, the Public Participation Network, South Dublin County Partnership and more. A dedicated phone line and email address were established as points of contact for members of the public and community organisations seeking or wishing to provide assistance.

The Council's COVID-19 Community Response Forum ensured the very best use of the many resources assisting vulnerable persons with their daily needs during this unprecedented time, whether that was collecting medication, food shopping, social support and contact.

The Council also began offering a range of activities and resources as part of a new 'Keep Well' initiative, launched by An Taoiseach Michael Martin on 29 October 2020. Keep Well built on the "In This Together" campaign which happened earlier in 2020. The campaign aimed to help everyone in Ireland to stay connected, stay active, and look after their mental health throughout the COVID-19 pandemic.

Keep Well aimed to show people of all ages how they could mind their physical and mental health and wellbeing by adding healthy and helpful habits to daily and weekly routines. It provided guidelines, information, and tips on how to make a plan to do things that are good for us every day. The campaign in South Dublin County drew together a huge range of activities that people could pursue in their home or locality, by themselves or with family members or with friends online. It provided ideas and activities for people of all ages.

The Council also established a Community COVID 19 Resilience Fund to assist community and voluntary groups and organisations adapt their services and support to communities affected by the pandemic. The funding was directed to those groups aiming to improve their local communities and to recover from the effects of COVID-19.

Supporting Business During COVID-19

2020 was a very difficult year for many businesses in South Dublin County. To help, South Dublin County Council provided a range of supports to businesses to help keep them stay afloat through restrictions and reduced trade. Through the Local Enterprise Office, the Council provided in excess of €32m in direct support across Restart Grants, trading online vouchers, business continuity vouchers and Client Stimulus Schemes.

The Council also gave a commercial rates waiver to eligible businesses, including the vast majority of Small and Medium Enterprises and supported by a €900 million special funding allocation from the government.

Financial assistance was one side of the Council's business support, enabling trade in a safe and responsible environment was the other. The Council worked with the local business community to re-imagine and design towns in the County so that citizens felt comfortable and safe whilst shopping and going about their business. The Council prepared a streamlined process for businesses to apply for permission to place tables and chairs on the public realm or in existing on-street parking bays. Its purpose was to support those businesses impacted by social distancing requirements but would benefit from having additional outside space to serve food or drinks when restrictions allowed.

Local Enterprise Office South Dublin launched a campaign encouraging citizens to shop local in the run-up to Christmas. The campaign asked businesses to sign up for free to an online directory, which was then promoted through local media in print and online. The campaign featured several businesses in a different town or village each week to promote the talent and entrepreneurship that exists in South Dublin County.

The Local Enterprise Office also continued to offer a wide variety of training programmes and workshops online for budding entrepreneurs and existing businesses within the County.
