Heritage Week 2023

Every year SDCC prepares an event list of heritage activities that are spread throughout summer and early autumn. These events also incorporate events scheduled for National Heritage Week, which in 2023 occurred between 12th – 20th August. The theme for 2023's Heritage Week was 'Living Heritage'. The SDCC heritage event list is co-ordinated by the Library Service and funding for these activities is drawn annually from the County Heritage Plan budget. This year's SDCC heritage events are published at History and Heritage - SDCC.

In total, 46 events were organised, listed under the following categories: Exhibitions (x2); Walks, Tours and Outdoor Events (x20); Talks and Workshops (x15); Children's Event (x9).

In addition to the Council-funded and organised events, the Office of Public Works hosted events for St. Enda's Park and Rathfarnham Castle, while local communities and environmental groups across South Dublin County also submitted individual heritage projects and events directly to the National Heritage Week website.

Works to Start on New School Zones

The Active Travel School Zone projects at Gaelscoil Chluain Dolcáin, The Oval Palmerstown and at St Mark's Springfield, which aim to engage schools and their communities, within the County to improve safety and air quality outside the school gate and better support active travel modes on the journey to and from school, were supported at the Council meeting in November 2020. Following engagement with the schools and other key stakeholders as well as a full public consultation on these proposals held in April and May 2022, we hope to see works start in September. The projects are supported by the National Transport Authority (NTA).

Threading the Tower – Reimagining the Clondalkin Round Tower

In August, the Council launched the Clondalkin Crochet Lace Tower, referred to as 'Threading the Tower – reimagining the Clondalkin Round Tower'. This is an initiative of the Council's Heritage Officer and the Irish Crochet Lace Revival group, with the involvement of local crochet makers from Clondalkin and beyond. In conjunction with lace artist Fiona Harrington, a 1.5m high model of the medieval Clondalkin Round Tower was designed and constructed from crochet lace squares sewn into a framework of copper wire, with stainless steel and copper wire base and cap.

A key element of the project was the involvement of the wider Clondalkin crochet community, including the family descendants of the local women who designed and made crochet for the haute couture gowns of Sybil Connolly. Over 35 women made and submitted square motifs for inclusion in the model.

The project is funded by the Creative Ireland Programme through the Council's Creative Culture Team and the Council's Heritage Plan budget.

60 people turned up to see the final product, representing a significant level of attendance for a Heritage Week event.

Cllr Francis Timmons kindly deputised for the Mayor who was away, and the display was incredibly well received by the community. The Crochet Tower will be on display in Clondalkin Library for the next month, after which it will tour the other Libraries around the County.

We hope it will find a final resting place in the Round Tower Visitor Centre as part of the Centre's permanent exhibition.

1,000 Years in Every Bite

Monk's Kitchen is the new name of the café at the Round Tower Visitor Centre (RTVC). This change is being made by the management licence holder and will allow both entities offer a consistent visitor experience and will create a complementary brand presence that can stand out from competitors, re-establishing the centre as a must visit destination. Aligning the name of the café with the medieval visitor experience will ensure that the café's brand doesn't inadvertently overshadow the visitor centre. This synergy in brands will strengthen the RTVC brand and help promote a more unified front.

- 51% reduction in the Council's greenhouse gas emissions by 2030;
- To make Dublin a climate resilient region, by reducing the impacts of future climate change-related events; and

Successful Open Day at Friarstown Allotments

A successful Open Day was held at the Friarstown Allotments on August 12. Public Realm crews were involved in helping to organise the event in conjunction with the South Dublin Allotments Association. Allotment holders from the Council's four sites (430 Allotments) at Friarstown, Mill Lane, Corkagh Park and Tymon Park were all invited to attend. There were prizes for the best kept plots, as well as prizes for fruit and vegetables. Cllr. Pamela Kearns attended on behalf of the Mayor to present prizes. Environmental Awareness provided awareness and information on re-using and recycling.

Allotments provide a healthy physical recreation for all age groups and are also a great social and educational outlet where people from a wide variety of social backgrounds use the allotments to learn from each other through gardening together, acquiring new knowledge and skills. This gives people a great sense of achievement and the satisfaction gained from eating their first home grown tomato or new potato makes them taste even more delicious.

Works Start On Tymon Park Intergenerational Centre

Works on the Proposed Intergenerational Centre at Tymon Park, Wellington Lane Commence in September 2023

The proposed Intergenerational Centre at Tymon Park has now completed its detailed design and tender stages and will commence on site in September 2023.

The Intergenerational Centre with its café is designed to make the best of its parkland setting with a south facing terrace overlooking the lake. It will in turn enhance users experience and enjoyment of the park with its complementary facilities.

This multi-use facility will be adaptable to a variety of purposes. This facility is designed for use of small-to-medium sized groups that require a flexible space for community-type use.

Multi Purpose Facility Offers a Variety of Uses

The Intergenerational Centre will be a multi-purpose space with the ability to adapt to various community uses. With one medium sized space which can be partitioned and covered outdoor space which can be used for outdoor activities and events. Not to mention the on site coffee / tea shop with seating indoors and outdoors.

The proposed centre is designed to accommodate flexible use both inside and outside the facility and the facilities within the park will also be available to the centre users.

The Intergenerational Centre will provide a medium-sized, multi-functional community space; which is divided by a partition into 2 smaller, self-contained rooms if required; a coffee / tea shop with indoor and outdoor seating (that can also provide spill out space from the multi-functional community space) and an outdoor terrace which is sheltered by a canopy, which can provide space for outdoor cinema, outdoor performances, outdoor table games (chess, scrabble etc) etc. overlooking the existing lake.

The landscape plan for the proposed facility ensures the building is integrated into the parkland setting; the landscape plan realigns the vehicular route; upgrading the walking route into the park from Wellington Road and providing an enhanced pedestrian entrance to the park; putting the emphasis on pedestrian / wheelchair access and as well as providing cycle parking.

The plan also provides for compensatory planting and enhances the pollinator planting within the area. This planting area may be of interest to wildlife interest groups etc. who may wish to use the facility. The proposed green roof helps to integrate the facility into the parks landscape, provides an ecological habitat and enhances sustainable drainage.

The project will commence on site in September and notices have been erected in the park to notify park users. Please note the project will impact on use of the adjacent car park so car parking will be reduced at the Wellington entrance car park. SDCC apologises in advance for any inconvenience and request our patrons to have patience with us during these construction works.

The Intergenerational Centre Development will commence on site in September

Griffen Valley Pétanque Club

During Summer 2023 several new recreational facilities for all ages opened across the county in our parks and open spaces which have been welcomed by local communities and have added to the recreational amenity within our county.

Three playspaces opened in Dodder Valley: at Old Bawn, Mt Carmel and Cherrywood. These new playspaces have been visited by hundreds of children over the Summer and are a welcome addition to this beautiful riverside park.

The BMX pump track, which opened just prior to the Summer holidays has also been a welcome addition to this park. The track saw plenty of use over the summer and, due to its popularity, SDCC has included similar plans in park upgrades recently subject to Part 8 processes.

In June, the then Mayor of South Dublin County Council, Councillor Emma Murphy officially launched SDCC's Communication Boards at Tymon Park. This marked the extension of an original pilot project for communication boards, which occurred in Corkagh park to 13

A Focus On

New Recreational Facilities in SDCC Parks & Open Spaces

playspace locations across the county.

Communication Boards assist inclusive play and allows any child struggling with verbal communication to play the way they wish to.

At the same time additional sensory and accessible play facilities, provided via a local vote during the Public Participatory Budget Process were also launched. These included a beautiful bee sculpture and a basket swing, which augment the sensory play facilities at this popular playspace.

At the end of June a new teenspace was opened at Bancroft Park as part of SDCC's teenspace programme which is underway across the county at the moment. SDCC's Teenspace Programme started after a county-wide consultation with teenagers, to find out what their needs are and how those needs can be best met in South Dublin.

Bancroft Park teenspace is getting great use from the young people in the area, in particular the new basket swing.

In the north of the county new facilities for teenagers were opened in time for the Summer with the existing ball wall at Esker being augmented by extra basketball courts, a small kick about area and plenty of new seating. This already popular teenspace now has additional facilities for teenagers to hang out and relax with friends.

SDCC took additional consultation with teenagers into account and incorporated additional items that appeal to all genders and different activity preferences to improve this popular teenspace.

A large boules court was opened nearby and has seen great use in the months since opening, including by a newly formed pétanque club.

SDCC are delighted with the success of the new amenities over the Summer and look forward to many years of community engagement. We would like to thank all the local communities and park users for their patience during the construction processes.

We have several new projects about to get underway in parks across the county over the coming months, including upgrades at Corkagh Park, Killinarden Park and Tymon Park Intergenerational Centre as well as the imminent opening of Airlie Park; so watch this space!!
