School Street Scheme Completed at St Marks School Tallaght

As part of the initiative to create safe school streets around schools in the County, works at St Marks Junior and Senior NS in Springfield, Tallaght have now been completed.

A Safe School Street operates as a street where vehicular traffic is restricted across the complete width of the road during specific timed closures.

Redirecting vehicles away from the front of schools by means of specific timed closures, provides the safest possible environment for students to access school.

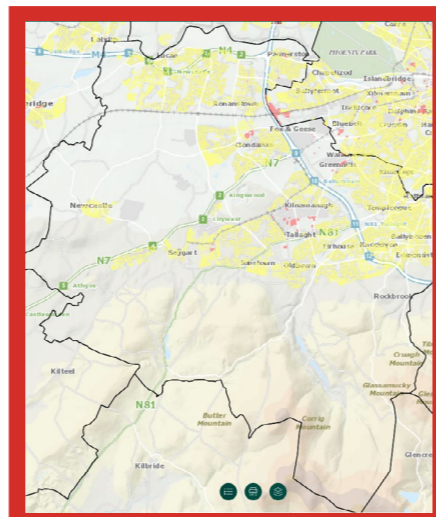

The scheme involved the upgrading of the crossing point to a raised zebra crossing with solar powered flashing Belisha beacons. It also included the installation of traffic calming measures and the installation of pencil bollards, narrowing the carriageway to prevent parking on the road in front of the school, making that road now significantly safer than before for all road users, particularly school children and other vulnerable road users.

A School Street can either be fully pedestrianised or restrict vehicular access during termtime at fixed drop-off and pick-up times. The timings of restrictions should be determined by the school and those who need access to the street.

The project team from SDCC Active Travel worked closely with the School Community, the Principal, and the Church, to ensure a successful scheme could be completed. The road outside the school is now much calmer and the speed along the stretch of the road outside the school as observed on site has significantly reduced.

Residential Zoned Land Tax

The first annual Residential Zoned Land Tax map was published in December 2023 with the tax to be payable from 2024 and collected by the Revenue Commissioners.

However, Budget 2023 changed the liability date so that the tax is deferred to 2025. The Council is now required to publish an updated map which will be consulted on from 1st February to 1st April 2024. The map will identify land meeting relevant criteria to be subject to the residential zoned land tax.

Submissions can be made seeking inclusion or exclusion or to seek a variation to the development plan where relevant.

Dublin Mountains Archaeology

The 'Dublin Mountains Community Archaeology' (DCMA) initiative is a partnership project involving SDCC, Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown County Council, the Dublin Mountains Partnership (DMP), and the Heritage Council. The mountains support a rich archaeological heritage which has not been promoted in an accessible way to the many visitors availing of the area's outdoor recreational opportunities. An increase in visitor numbers has also resulted in increased risk to the protection of the archaeological record.

The key aims of the project are to promote better understanding of the rich archaeological resource of the Mountains, and to encourage appropriate engagement between visitors and the archaeological record. Through the provision of online information events, guided walks, stakeholder training programmes, the development of educational resources and the development of a Dublin Mountains Heritage Trail, the DMCA project is offering a co-ordinated approach for the project partners in which to effectively address shared corporate objectives.

Opening of Dodder Phase 4

The Minister for Transport, Eamon Ryan TD, joined Mayor Alan Edge and local Councillors to open the Dodder Greenway Phase 4 at Dodder Road Lower in Rathfarnham.

Works on Phase 4 of the Greenway commenced in May 2022, and it runs from Springfield Avenue, along Dodder View Road and Dodder Road Lower. The project involved reduction of the vehicle carriageway width and construction of new footpaths and a new two-way grade separated. This phase brings the Greenway to Ely's Arch which is the County boundary with DLR and DCC. From here the project will continue into the city centre.

A Good Night's Sleep - Rua Red

This bold and colourful, installation, running until the 2nd of March, has been created by artist Morag Myerscough working with the Irish Refugee Council's Youth Service, DoubleTake Studio, New Horizon HUB, and the Tallaght Ukrainian community. It was commissioned by Rua Red to explore the multifaceted theme of 'belonging'.

Over ten months, participants shared their hopes, dreams, fears and struggles, through colour, word, and sound. Weaving together these journeys, Morag designed a series of built enclosures that represent a safe, secure, and warm space that forms the basis for A Good Night's Sleep.

Workplace Wellbeing on Blue Monday

Blue Monday typically refers to the third Monday of January, considered by some as the most depressing day of the year. The Councils Health and Wellbeing Team organised an event to tackle the January Blues for staff.

In order to encourage staff to focus on self-care, connect with colleagues, and engage in positive activities; Yoga and Chair Massages were organised. Six Yoga classes were held throughout the day while also providing sound bath therapy, to encourage relaxation techniques and breathing techniques to calm the mind, with seventy two staff members attending.

The other activity that was organised was chair massages offered by "Mind Well". There were six therapists on the day offering neck, head, and shoulder massages that lasted 15 minutes. The massages released tension and reset staff members for the day ahead. It proved a huge success with one hundred and six staff attending.

South Dublin County Council recognises the importance of Staff wellbeing and ultimately, while Blue Monday might be a symbolic day, addressing health and wellbeing concerns is a year-round commitment that goes beyond a single day.

The Council intends to constantly promote a working culture that values the health and wellbeing of all its staff by continuing health and wellbeing promotion in the form of webinars, seminars, health screening, cancer talks, and smoking cessation groups throughout 2024.

During 2023 the Council facilitated workplace wellbeing day, three extremely successful smoking cessation groups.

Two smoking cessation groups took place in County Hall, while one took place in Ballymount Depot. The First smoking cessation of 2024 has just begun in Tymon Depot.

Dublin Mountains Makeover

SDCC, as part of the Dublin Mountains Partnership, has partnered with Coillte, the Forestry Service, and other partners in the delivery of the Dublin Mountains Makeover. Coillte owns and manages approx. half of the forests in the Dublin Mountains and since 2020 has been transitioning nine forests away from a clearfell and re-plant cycle towards a sustainable 'Continuous Cover Forest' model.

Continuous Cover Forestry, coupled with the gradual replacement of some coniferous forest with mixed species broadleaf forest, has enormous benefits for biodiversity, climate change adaptation and mitigation and the environment generally.

In addition, this plan has benefits for amenity and recreation, as these forests; with a mix of native species such as Scots Pine, birch, rowan, holly and willow, provide increased colour, interesting habitats and variety for visitors to enjoy. This work started in 2020 and will continue over many years. Further details are available at: <https://www.coillte.ie/coillte-nature/ourprojects/dublinmountainsmakeover/>

This year we had over 80 entries from ten different schools. The under nine winner was Kayla Adel from St Ronans NS, Clondalkin. The over nine winner was Willow Devoy, Rathfarnham Parish NS.

Council to spend €1.9 Million on Minor Improvement Works in 2024
